

Creative leader with 30+ years across brand, digital product, UX, demand generation, and emerging technology. I've built and led multidisciplinary creative teams while driving measurable gains in acquisition, conversion, product engagement, and revenue.

Today, I combine that experience with AI and modern development platforms to compress the path from concept to launch—rapidly designing, prototyping, testing, and shipping customer-facing experiences. My strength is connecting strategy, design, experimentation, and technology to turn complex ideas into practical business value.
